SPRING 2014 BY THE NUMBERS

113 Combined number of starts for Florida State's expected starting offensive line. FSU returns four starters - Cam Erving (28 career starts), Tre Jackson (28), Josue Matias (29) and Bobby Hart (23) - who will all be seniors. Fellow senior center Austin Barron (6 starts) is expected to fill in for departed All-American and 2013 Rimington Trophy winner Bryan Stork.

723 With Heisman Trophy winner Jameis Winston leading FSU's high-powered offense, the Seminoles set the college football record for points in a season in 2013, averaging 51.6 points per game.

14 The Seminoles return 14 starters combined on offense and defense - seven on each side of the football. In addition to the four offensive linemen, FSU returns Winston, wide receiver Rashad Greene and tight end Nick O'Leary on offense. On defense, the Noles return defensive lineman Eddie Goldman, Nile Lawrence-Stample and Mario Edwards, Jr., linebacker Terrance Smith and defensive backs Jalen Ramsey, P.J. Williams and Ronald Darby.

12.1 The Seminoles' had the nation's best offense and also the best defense, ranking first in the country in points allowed (12.1) as well as passing yards allowed and interceptions (26).

171 The number of career receptions (171) by Rashad Greene are the fourth-most in FSU history. Greene will enter his senior season just 42 receptions away from breaking Ron Sellers' 46-year old FSU record (212).

6 Florida State's recent success in bowl games is unmatched. The Seminoles are the only team to win a bowl game in each of the last six seasons, which includes a 4-0 mark under Jimbo Fisher.

FISHER JOINS ELITE NATIONAL CHAMPIONSHIP-HEISMAN CLUB

In 2013, Florida State head coach Jimbo Fisher became the fifth active head coach to win both a national championship and have a player win the Heisman Trophy, joining Nick Saban, Bob Stoops, Urban Meyer and Steve Spurrier.

Coach	Current School	National Champ.	Heisman Winner
Jimbo Fisher	Florida State	Florida State (2013)	Jameis Winston (2013)
Nick Saban	Alabama	LSU (2003) Alabama (2009, 11, 12)	Mark Ingram (2009)
Bob Stoops	Oklahoma	Oklahoma (2000)	Jason White (2003), Sam Bradford (2008)
Urban Meyer	Ohio State	Florida (2006, 08)	Tim Tebow (2007)
Steve Spurrier	South Carolina	Florida (1996)	Danny Wuerffel (1996)

O'LEARY COULD BE NATION'S BEST TIGHT END

Rising senior tight end Nick O'Leary led the nation in yards per catch by a tight end in 2013 (16.9) and has the most touchdowns in 2013 of any returning tight end (seven) entering the 2014 season. A John Mackey Award finalist and All-ACC second team performer during FSU's national championship season, O'Leary tallied 33 receptions for 557 yards. He is already the Seminoles all-time leader for touchdown receptions by a tight end with 11. For his career, O'Leary is second in FSU history in receptions (66) and yards (973) by a tight end behind Gary Parris (1970-72) who had 82 receptions and 1,125 yards.

SUPER MARIO

Rising junior defensive end Mario Edwards, Jr. captured third team All-ACC honors in 2013 and was at his best down the stretch, posting a game-high 3.0 TFLs in the BCS National Championship Game, including a 10-yard sack. Edwards finished with six tackles versus Auburn. In the final game of the regular season Edwards had three tackles, 2.0 TFLs, a sack and a forced fumble at Florida.

FRESHMEN SETTIN' RECORDS

Everybody knows about the various records Jameis Winston set as a redshirt freshman last season, but two other first-year Seminoles also set impressive marks. Redshirt freshman kicker Roberto Aguayo set a national record for points in a single season by a kicker with 157 - which also set the FSU and ACC mark for all players. True freshman Kermit Whitfield broke a 59-year-old ACC record for kick return average (36.4), setting the FSU record and leading the nation by over six yards in the process. Whitfield returned two kicks for touchdowns in 2013, including a 100-yard touchdown in the fourth quarter of the BCS National Championship Game.

NOTIN' THE NOLES

15-GAME ACC WIN STREAK HEADING INTO 2014

The Seminoles will carry a 15-game winning streak against Atlantic Coast Conference opponents into 2014, which is the program's longest since it strung together 24 in a row between 1998-2001. Aside from the stellar play of quarterback Jameis Winston during that stretch, rising senior wide receiver Rashad Greene has also shined offensively over the 15-game ACC win streak:

- Greene has 85 receptions for 1,229 yards and 11 touchdowns during that stretch, including at least one reception in all 15 games. He is averaging 81.9 yards per game and 14.5 yards per reception;
- Defensively, Florida State has forced 36 turnovers in its last 15 ACC games. The Seminoles have also gotten after each opposing conference quarterback, generating 35 sacks in that time frame as well.

LOOKING TO STAY GROUNDED AGAIN

Last year's Florida State National Championship team was extremely efficient defending the pass, leading the country with 26 interceptions and allowing a national low 156.6 passing yards per game:

- While FSU endures the losses of talented secondary players Lamarcus Joyner and Terrence Brooks, it will enjoy the services of returning players Nate Andrews, P.J. Williams, Jalen Ramsey, Ronald Darby, Nick Waisome and Marquez White.
- The six returnees were part of a unit that forced three sub-100 yard passing performances last season against Nevada (86 yards), Bethune-Cookman (60 yards) and Wake Forest (63 yards).
- The inability of opposing quarterbacks to pass for much yardage was a large reason why FSU led the nation in scoring defense at 12.1 points per game. FSU's team passing efficiency defense was second nationally and first in the ACC at 93.77.
- FSU allowed just 22 passing plays last season that went 20 yards or more. Opponents were able to surpass 20 yards through the air for only every 11 pass completions made.

WHAT TO DO FOR AN ENCORE?

With quarterback and reigning Heisman Trophy Winner Jameis Winston back under center, Florida State is once again looking for an astounding offensive season. Winston spear-headed the Seminoles to an FBS record-setting 723 points last season, breaking Oklahoma's former record of 716 points scored over a 14-game slate in 2008. While several quality players have departed, FSU's infusion of quality backs and a blend of youthful and seasoned talent at the wideout positions leaves it more than capable of another prolific offensive year.

TAKING THE NEXT STEP

Rising junior cornerback P.J. Williams is one of several FSU ball-hawkers looking to take the next step. Named a College Football News Sophomore All-America member last season, he became one of the ACC's best defensive backs and is ready to go from blossoming to elite:

- No one came up bigger on the defensive side in last season's 34-31 win over Auburn in the BCS National Championship Game. The Ocala, Fla., native was named Defensive MVP after registering a career-high seven tackles and a crucial interception at the start of the fourth quarter.
- Williams led FSU with seven pass break-ups and 10 passes defended in 2013, making him one of the team's most viable returnees on both sides of the ball.

WANTING MORE WITH FOUR

Lofty expectations are sure to follow the Seminoles again in 2014 with the return of 14 combined starters on offense and defense. From a historical perspective, FSU's goal of winning another national championship in what will be the new era of the College Football Playoff would put it in high-ranking company:

- The Seminoles are eyeing their fourth national championship this season. They would be the ninth school to win four or more titles, joining Alabama (9), Notre Dame (8), Oklahoma (7), Miami (5), USC (5), Minnesota (4), Nebraska (4) and Ohio State (4).

PROGRESSION AT ITS FINEST

TWO-SPORT NOLES

JAMEIS WINSTON - BASEBALL

The reigning Heisman Trophy winner has also found success on the diamond.

- This season, Winston leads the Noles with four saves and has a 1.76 ERA and 16 strikeouts through 11 appearances and 15.1 innings pitched as FSU's closer.
- His best game came on March 15 when he tied a career-high with 3.0 innings pitched and tallied a career-best seven strikeouts against NC State.
- He was named a 2014 preseason Baseball America Third Team All-American (Utility).
- For his career, has also started 24 games in the outfield and 12 as a DH.
- Career pitching stats: 2.55 ERA, six saves, 37 strikeouts, 42.1 innings.

Stats as of April 9, 2014

JOHN FRANKLIN III - TRACK & FIELD

Franklin redshirted during the football season last fall but was an integral member of the scout team at quarterback before joining the FSU track team as a sprinter.

- Franklin competed in three meets during the indoor season, posting a season-best time of 6.82 in the 60-meter dash - a mark that ranked 17th in the nation among NCAA Division I football players.
- He was a member of FSU's ACC Indoor Championship team.
- Franklin is expected to compete in 100/200 and spring relay teams during the outdoor season.

JALEN RAMSEY - TRACK & FIELD

The rising sophomore is poised to become a premier defensive back in the ACC after starting every game and earning Freshman All-America honors in 2013. He is already one of the top long jumpers in the conference, as well.

- Ramsey competed in three indoor meets and placed third at the 2014 ACC Indoor Championships in the long jump with a leap of 24-5.75, helping the Noles pull away for their 10th conference indoor championship.
- His season-best jump of 24-11 (7.59 meters) is No. 10 in FSU's all-time indoor list and was the second-best among all NCAA Division I football players.
- He is expected to start practicing with the track team again next week just in time for the ACC Outdoor Championships from April 17-19 in Chapel Hill, N.C.

MARQUEZ WHITE - BASKETBALL

The rising sophomore defensive back saw action in 13 games for the National Champion Seminoles on the gridiron before walking on to the FSU basketball team.

- White played in the BCS National Championship in Pasadena, Calif., on Jan. 6 and joined head coach Leonard Hamilton's hoops team just six days later on Jan. 12.
- The 6-1 backup guard appeared in six games, including the NIT semifinals versus Minnesota at Madison Square Garden.
- He drilled the first shot of his career - a 3-pointer - in a 70-50 win over Virginia Tech in his first game on Feb. 5.

2014 SPRING PREVIEW

Entering 2014 spring practice, the undefeated national championship 2013 campaign is fresh in the Florida State football team's mind. The challenge for this fall's squad will be not only replacing starters and leaders on both sides of the ball, but also forging its own identity. The Seminoles must not allow themselves to be complacent, but instead must evolve.

"I like where we are at, I just hope we can go back to being fundamentally sound, finding the best players, putting them in the right positions to be successful and those guys must keep that same selfless attitude and demeanor we had last year," head coach Jimbo Fisher said. "...still staying aggressive and playing great team football and that's going to be very critical and not worrying about the past. Last year is last year. Learn from what we did last year, don't revel in it because we have to go do it again and become our own successful team this year. Learn from our mistakes but also learn from our successes and remember how you had success and why you had success to repeat that. Hopefully we can take that into this season."

QUARTERBACKS

After putting together one of the greatest seasons by a signal caller in college football history in 2013, reigning Heisman Trophy winner Jameis Winston returns in a much different position than one year ago at this time.

Twelve months ago, Winston entered spring practices No. 3 on the depth chart.

Jameis Winston

It was in April of last year at the annual spring game that FSU fans got their first real taste of Winston's ability under center. On his first play from scrimmage, Winston tossed a 58-yard touchdown pass and finished the game 12-of-15 for 205 yards and two scores.

Winston was named the starter in August and went on to author the greatest freshman season by a quarterback in college football history, setting the national freshman record for touchdown passes (40) and passing yards (4,057) en route to consensus All-America honors in addition to the Heisman, Davey O'Brien and Manning Awards.

This year, his role is much different. Instead of being a first-year player fighting to earn playing time, Winston is the leader of a very talented team on the hunt for a repeat.

FSU enters spring practices with three underclassmen quarterbacks on its roster. Like Winston, Sean Maguire is a rising redshirt sophomore that played sparingly as the No. 3 quarterback in 2013 before rising to No. 2 when backup Jacob Coker went down with a season-ending injury.

Maguire has a good understanding of the playbook and system entering his third season, but will have to hold off John Franklin III for the backup spot this spring. Franklin III spent his true-freshman year running the scout-team offense and he boasts impressive speed (he's also on FSU's track team) and Fisher has high hopes for the talented athlete.

RUNNING BACKS/ FULLBACKS

After spending two full seasons and the first game of the 2013 season as a reserve safety, Karlos Williams' long talked-about move to running back was met with immediate intrigue.

Turns out, the excitement about Willams' move was justified. On his first-career carry, he sped 65 yards for a touchdown and never looked back. Williams went on to rush for 730 yards on just 91 carries for an 8.0 yards-per-carry average while adding 11 touchdowns.

He will look to solidify himself as the team's feature tailback on a roster that features several stellar — but inexperienced — youngsters.

Ryan Green is the only other scholarship running back on the team with any playing experience. As a true freshman a season ago, Green carried 33 times and racked up 163 yards and one score.

Mario Pender is entering his third spring in Tallahassee but the redshirt sophomore has yet to play a game. Like Green, Pender is a shifty 'back with great speed. There are high hopes for both sophomores and they'll be given every chance to prove their worth alongside Williams. Five-star tailback prospect Dalvin Cook enrolled early but will not practice in the spring following a should injury.

At fullback, the Seminoles lost Chad Abram to graduation, and sophomore Freddie Stevenson is expected to step into that role. Stevenson enrolled at FSU last spring and spent the early part of his career as a linebacker before making the move to offense. He appeared in 12 games and eight carries for 33 yards and a score in 2013.

Stevenson is followed by converted linebacker Nigel Terrell and walk-on Cameron Ponder at the fullback spot at the top of the depth chart.

Karlos Williams

WIDE RECEIVERS

A precise route runner with great hands, body control and track speed, Rashad Greene has never had a problem being an impact player on the field for the 'Noles. But now, he faces a new challenge. For the first time in his career, Greene is the veteran charged with being the unquestioned leader.

With Kelvin Benjamin and Kenny Shaw preparing for the NFL, Greene is the team's most experienced player at wide receiver entering spring practices. Christian Green and Jarred Haggins are both seniors, too, and figure to bring a veteran presence to the receiving corps along with Greene, who earned All-ACC First Team honors in 2013.

Greene hauled in 76 catches for 1,128 yards and nine touchdowns as part of FSU's title run while Green was sixth on the team with 13 grabs for 157 yards. Before he ran back the game-changing kick return against Auburn, Levonte "Kermit" Whitfield notched five catches for 89 yards while adding three runs for 110 yards as a true freshman.

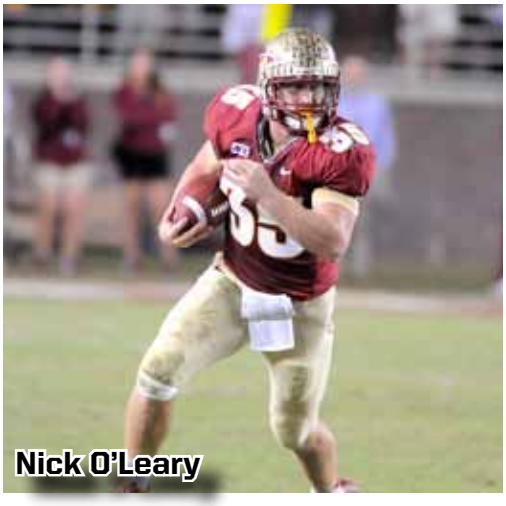
Fellow rookies Isaiah Jones and Jesus "Bobo" Wilson combined to catch five passes 54 yards. Jones only played in five games after injuring his foot.

The trio of rising sophomores will be expected to utilize spring ball to take their games to the next level and help ease the loss of proven players like Benjamin and Shaw. Whitfield, Wilson and Jones each have different but complimentary skill-sets and a collective rise in their games could keep FSU's potent aerial attack in place.

Rashad Greene

With six scholarship wide receivers on the roster for spring practices, opportunity certainly awaits Green, Haggins, Whitfield, Wilson and Jones.

TIGHT ENDS



Nick O'Leary

Luckily for FSU, Nick O'Leary went unscathed through the entire 2013 season despite being the only healthy true tight end on Florida State's roster.

Sure, Jimbo Fisher had moved former defensive end Giorgio Newberry to that position and former walk-on Shayne Broxsie made a similar move from the defensive line. But with so little experience playing tight end between the two, O'Leary was the only viable and consistent option at that spot all year following injuries to Kevin Haplea and Jeremy Kerr before the season ever started.

The Palm Beach, Fla. native finished the year with 33 receptions for 557 yards and seven touchdowns. O'Leary enters spring practice considered one of the top players at his position in the entire nation for 2014.

Haplea became the No. 2 tight end in 2012 after transferring from Penn State and was penciled into that role before injuring his knee during summer workouts.

In Kerr, the 'Noles will introduce a player with a 6-foot-6 frame and tremendous blocking ability into the tight-end rotation during spring practices. Kerr could earn playing time as an extra blocker in a similar role to the one Newberry provided last year.

How the depth chart shakes out with each of these players behind O'Leary will be interesting to monitor this spring as the Seminoles are set to add exciting young tight ends Mavin Saunders and Ryan Izzo this summer.

OFFENSIVE LINE

There aren't many programs that have the luxury of winning the national championship and then kicking off spring practices a few months later with an all-senior starting offensive line.

But Florida State isn't most programs.

Games are won and lost in the trenches and with five senior starters poised to pace the offense, the Seminoles are certainly in good shape in 2014. But they have to stay healthy. As far as scholarship players go, FSU has just Ruben Carter, Wilson Bell and Ryan Hoefeld as reserves on the offensive line this spring before adding a bevy of new players at the position to the roster this summer.

Tre' Jackson

Josue Matias

DEFENSIVE TACKLES

Nile Lawrence-Stample

Who replaces Timmy Jernigan? That's question No. 1 facing Florida State as the reigning national champions enter spring practices.

The 'Noles finished third nationally in defense a season ago in large part because of Jernigan's efforts during a career season. The powerful defensive tackle could take on double teams and free teammates to make plays and on the rare occasions that he was in one-on-one battles, made short work of overmatched offensive guards and centers.

Without him, the Seminoles are missing a key ingredient in their defensive scheme. Without him, someone has to step up.

Eddie Goldman returns with the highest expectations among interior linemen. He's big, he's powerful, and he's shown flashes of his five-star potential. Nile Lawrence-Stample is built similarly to Jernigan with a shorter, powerful frame. He'll be expected to utilize his strength like Jernigan did so well the past three years. The Seminoles also have highly touted youngster Keith Bryant, who is coming off a redshirt rookie year, and Derrick Mitchell and Justin Shanks — two players that when healthy have the chance to contribute meaningful snaps.

But perhaps the biggest wildcard in the depth-chart shakedown at defensive tackle this spring is Desmond Hollin.

The former junior-college standout played sparingly in his first year at FSU last season but has had a terrific off-season since the 34-31 victory over Auburn two months ago. Hollin was considered a defensive end prospect when he joined the 'Noles but has increased his body size dramatically and physically looks able to handle the duties expected of an interior defensive lineman.

DEFENSIVE ENDS

At defensive end, Mario Edwards, Jr. had a breakout sophomore campaign and this spring could be the jumping off point for a special season for the FSU legacy. Edwards is considered one of the top run-stopping defensive ends in the nation and as his pass-rush ability increases, his national stock will only increase. Last year, he played 12 games and finished with 28 tackles, 9 1/2 tackles for loss, 3 1/2 sacks, an interception and two fumble recoveries.

Because FSU doesn't boast much depth at defensive end this spring, Edwards is one of the most important players on the roster heading into spring practices.

While Edwards saw his game elevate in his second year of playing, a similar trajectory for Chris Casher and DeMarcus Walker would be a huge plus for the Seminoles. Both Casher and Walker played meaningful snaps at defensive end last year and will be in competition for a starting job in 2014.

With just three scholarship defensive ends on the roster, Edwards, Casher and Walker must perform at a high level. The competition at defensive end — like it did last year — could potentially include linebackers Matthew Thomas, Ro'Derrick Hoskins and Ukeme Eligwe.

The versatility of all the FSU defensive linemen and those linebackers will allow the coaches to tinker with the roster and help mask some of the deficiencies in depth.

Mario Edwards, Jr.

LINEBACKERS

Without Telvin Smith and Christian Jones, the Seminoles have a noticeable void in vocal leadership and playmaking ability (Smith) and four seasons of steady playing-time experience (Jones). Smith and Jones were versatile, athletic, understood the defense and could be counted on in any situation.

Terrance Smith

Without them, rising redshirt junior Terrance Smith is the most experienced 'backer on the roster.

When Jones transitioned into a defensive-end role early in the 2013 season, Terrance Smith saw his opportunities dramatically increase as he moved into a starter's role alongside Telvin Smith in FSU's two-linebacker defensive formations.

With Charles Kelly's move from FSU's linebackers coach to defensive coordinator/secondary coach, Jimbo Fisher hired veteran assistant Bill Miller, who has 36 years of experience. Most recently the linebackers coach at Minnesota, Miller has been on the staffs at both Florida and Miami and has worked previously with Nick Saban and current FSU defensive ends coach Sal Sunseri at Michigan State.

Miller's experience within the defensive framework put in place by Fisher last spring bodes well for the Seminoles' ability to not miss a step defensively as reigning national champions.

Including Terrance Smith, Miller has an exciting group of linebackers to teach.

Rising junior Reggie Northrup notched 46 tackles while playing in all 14 games a season ago. Ukeme Eligwe played in 13 games as a redshirt freshman and registered 28 tackles and two sacks. Rookie E.J. Levenberry added 39 tackles and a memorable pick-six that helped FSU set the school record for total points scored in a single game against Idaho.

Matthew Thomas played in four games before sustaining a season-ending shoulder injury and fellow freshman Ro'Derrick Hoskins redshirted. Both have bulked up considerably since arriving on campus last summer.

DEFENSIVE BACKS

Despite the losses of star players Lamarcus Joyner and Terrence Brooks to graduation, the Seminoles should begin spring without much drop-off in talent in the defensive secondary.

Before making the move to safety and starting alongside Brooks at the start of the 2013 season, Tyler Hunter played in that nickel role Joyner perfected last year and perhaps he could make the switch back to that position. Hunter played 2 1/2 games last year before sustaining a season-ending neck injury that put his career in jeopardy.

Without Hunter in the lineup, true freshman Jalen Ramsey, who became the first true freshman to start at cornerback since Deion Sanders, transitioned into a starting safety role and excelled with Brooks the rest of the year. Could Ramsey make his way back to cornerback, thus allowing defensive coordinator Charles Kelly to shuffle his personnel at that position to find the best three guys?

Speaking of true freshman, Nate Andrews had a breakout season as a three-star, underrated rookie. Like Ramsey, Andrews played in all 14 games last year and he could line up at safety or at nickel because of his playing style and ability.

Without Brooks, the trio of Ramsey, Hunter and Andrews will be in the mix for starting honors but Keelin Smith has a long frame and good experience. Tyrell Lyons is coming off a redshirt his rookie year and Colin Blake and Lamarcus Brutus will also push for playing time at that spot.

The Seminoles also added highly-touted early enrollee Trey Marshall, who has been impressing coaches since he came to Tallahassee in January.

At cornerback, FSU boasts perhaps college football's best one-two punch at the position. Juniors P.J. Williams and Ronald Darby are legitimate stars and both will be popular names on 2015 mock NFL drafts. With Williams and Darby locked into two starting spots, Kelly, who has made the move from coaching the 'Noles' linebackers, has the luxury of fitting the best pieces around two trustworthy defenders.

Rising senior Nick Waisome also provides three years of experience — including a sophomore season in 2012 that saw him as a full-time starter. Marquez White showed playmaking flashes as a true freshman in 2013 as well.

SPECIAL TEAMS

Roberto Aguayo

Florida State had the best player in college football on its team a season ago but there was another redshirt freshman that broke records and racked up national awards, too. While Jameis Winston took the nation by storm, Roberto Aguayo put together one of the most impressive campaigns by a kicker in the sport's history. The rising redshirt sophomore enters spring practices as the nation's top kicker and the reigning Lou Groza Award winner.

While Aguayo is back to continue his domination from the kicking spot, FSU also returns two-year starter Cason Beatty. The true junior punter improved his average by nearly three yards from his rookie to sophomore seasons and only registered two touchbacks in 2013. With Beatty continuing to improve and Aguayo focused on following up his memorable first year, special teams are a strong suit for the 'Noles in 2014.

The Seminoles also bring back the nation's most lethal kick returner in Levonte "Kermit" Whitfield, who broke the 59-year-old ACC record for kick return average (36.4), leading the nation by over five yards in the process. Whitfield returned two kicks for scores, including an unforgettable 100-yard touchdown in the BCS Championship Game.

FSU will have to replace punt returner Kenny Shaw, but speeding rising sophomore Jesus "Bobo" Wilson showed promise returning two punts last season and there is also Rashad Greene, who has two career punt return touchdowns and was the Seminoles' primary punt returner in 2012.

In just four years head coach Jimbo Fisher has restored Florida State back to the top of the college football world by guiding the Seminoles to back-to-back Atlantic Coast Conference Championships and four consecutive bowl victories, culminating in a perfect 14-0 season and the Seminoles' third national championship in 2013.

Fisher enters his fifth campaign at the helm of the 'Noles in 2014 coming off two straight BCS berths, including a 2013 season where FSU had one of the most dominant offenses in college football history and arguably the nation's top defense. The Seminoles set the national record for points in a season (723), while leading the nation in scoring defense (12.1).

Fisher has compiled 45 wins and won 82 percent of his games with the Seminoles – by far the highest winning percentage in ACC history. Only four FBS programs have more total wins than Fisher's Seminoles since 2010. FSU leads the ACC in wins over that period and only one team from the SEC has compiled more wins over that same stretch (Alabama, 46). Currently, Fisher has the fifth-highest winning percentage (.818) among active FBS coaches with at least two years of experience.

Fisher came to Florida State as offensive coordinator in 2007 and was promoted to head coach in 2010. He quickly found success at the helm of the Seminoles, winning 10 games in two of his first three years. He has an unprecedented 4-0 record in bowl games, including the 34-31 victory over Auburn in the 2014 BCS National Championship Game and a 31-10 win over Northern Illinois in the 2012 Orange Bowl.

The 2013 season was truly historic for Fisher and the Seminoles. On offense, Florida State set the FSU and ACC records for single-season total offense (7,267 yards), points per game (51.6) and yards per play (7.67) in addition to the national record for points. FSU led the nation with 94 touchdowns, which was a school and ACC record. Florida State's 42 passing scores mark was a school and conference record, while its 42 rushing scores set a new FSU mark.

On defense, FSU led the nation in scoring defense, and also pass defense (156.6) and interceptions (26), while ranking third in total defense (281.4). The Seminoles also led the conference in pass defense efficiency (93.8) and ranked third in rushing yards allowed per game (124.8). Only two teams scored more than 17 points against the Seminoles.

The Seminoles became the sixth team ever to win 14 games and the first ACC team ever to accomplish the feat. Fisher was named AFCA Regional Coach of the Year for Region 1 in 2013 and was a finalist for the Eddie Robinson Coach of the Year and the Bobby Bowden Coach of the Year awards.

Known for his success in developing quarterbacks, Fisher has tutored two first-round NFL draft picks at the position at FSU – current Minnesota Viking Christian Ponder (12th overall pick, 2011) and current Buffalo Bill EJ Manuel (16th overall, 2013) – and guided Seminoles' signal caller Jameis Winston to one of the greatest seasons by a collegiate quarterback in 2013. Winston became the youngest player ever to win the Heisman Trophy, while also nabbing the Davey O'Brien Award, Manning Award, Walter Camp Player of the Year honor and consensus All-America honors. He became the first freshman to win ACC Player of the Year honors and set the conference record for single-season touchdown passes.

HEAD COACH JIMBO FISHER

Florida State had 11 players capture All-ACC First Team honors – six on offense and five on defense or special teams – this season. The Seminoles also had six players capture All-America First or Second Team accolades – Winston, senior cornerback Lamarcus Joyner, senior center Bryan Stork, junior tackle Cameron Erving, freshman kicker Roberto Aguayo and junior defensive tackle Timmy Jernigan.

Entering the 2014 NFL Draft, Fisher has seen 18 Seminoles get drafted into the NFL in his first three seasons.

After 22 seasons as a college assistant, including three as FSU's offensive coordinator, Fisher succeeded Bobby Bowden - the winningest coach in major college football. The Seminoles' first new coach in 35 years, and just the ninth in program history, hit the ground running in 2010 and hasn't looked back.

He led the `Noles to a 10-4 mark in 2010 - the most wins by a first-year coach in FSU history - and the first of three ACC Atlantic Division titles. He followed with a 9-4 season in 2011 and improved to 12-2 in year three before the perfect 14-0 2013 campaign.

PRE-SPRING PRESS CONFERENCE

HEAD COACH JIMBO FISHER TRANSCRIPT - MARCH, 2014

Opening Statement:
"It's great to see you all. (We're) ready to kick off spring ball, very excited, very pleased with the way our kids have had the Fourth Quarter (workout) program, with our attitude and work ethic in the field, and seeing new faces take on new responsibilities on the field, and some of these older guys taking a greater responsibility for the things in which they have to do to provide leadership for the younger guys. This team has to develop its own identity and its own personality and I've been pleased so far, but again we have to take it to the field and show some consistency. (I'm) very excited to see how that begins and it starts today and these coaches are extremely excited to get back on that field doing the things we do. I like where we are at, I just hope we can go back to being fundamentally sound, finding the best players, putting them in the right positions to be successful and those guys keep that same selfless attitude and demeanor we had last year – still staying aggressive and playing great team football and that's going to be very critical and not worrying about the past. Last year is last year. Learn from what we did last year, don't revel in it because we have to go do it again and become our own successful team this year. Learn from our mistakes but also learn from our successes and remember how you had success and why you had success to repeat that. Hopefully we can take that into this season. It is a big critical month right now when we go onto the field and see how we can go apply those principals to each other and I'm looking for a lot of consistency and very anxious to watch our team play."

On quarterback Jameis Winston juggling spring football and baseball:
"Yes, exactly the same (as last year), only one practice he will miss which is this Saturday because getting able to get access back to Clemson is such hard travel during a Saturday that is a critical series for them and he is playing such a critical role for them that he can do that, other than that he will be at every practice except this Saturday will be the only one he will miss."

On John Franklin III's development at quarterback:
"He is going to get a great shot, and the way we practice he is going to get as many reps as anyone else and I am very anxious to see John. John is a very athletic guy, tremendous athleticism as far as speed, throws the ball very well, very intelligent guy so we will see how he can process and make decisions within an offense and lead an offense. But to me that is one of the critical positions we need to develop and open that backup role because I think Sean (Maguire) would be very comfortable and John pushes him and how we go into things. I'm anxious to see how he handles his responsibilities. I think John has tremendous, tremendous upside."

On if spring practice has a more relaxed feel:
"Definitely not. Nothing is ever relaxed. When you're relaxed, you're in trouble. We will keep the same intensity, the same focus and again this team has to develop some identity and the coaching staff too. That's the thing you don't want to relax because you can become complacent. We will do things exactly the same way and hopefully we evolve as coaches and continue to evolve as a staff to get things better and what we're doing and from that standpoint we definitely won't be thinking in that mentality. "

On the returning running backs:
"I've been very pleased with their performances so far in the offseason. I think Karlos (Williams) has done a great job accepting a leadership role. I think he is really stepping up. I always say leaders aren't just leading themselves but you're affecting the guys on the team. He's been very vocal from his talking and the way his actions he's done a tremendous job. Ryan Green also has tremendous upside and has really developed. He may be the fastest, quickest guy on our football team. I mean he was off the charts. I thought Mario Pender had a tremendous offseason. All of those guys that we are very excited for, and of course Dalvin (Cook). Dalvin will not be in spring ball. When Dalvin was in our workouts he looked like he had been here for three years. I am telling you he jumped right in there so did Trey Marshall and Stephen Gabbard. I'm telling you those guys all came in early and did a great job, but Dalvin actually going up stairs, stumbled put his hand down and tweaked his shoulder and we went ahead and fixed it so he will have three full months of rehabilitation after he gets out of the sling so he will be ready to go by the fall and he will be in all of our meetings and we hate to see that but he will be ready to go, but I was very pleased with him also."

On if Dalvin Cook's injury will put him behind:
"It doesn't. I mean you want reps, but he's still going to be there in the offseason. He is going to be in all of the meetings he just won't get all of the reps on the field, but I still think he will be ahead of where he will normally be as a freshman anyway so I don't think it will put him behind. He learns pretty quickly, he's a sharp guy."

On the speed of the running back group:
"We probably are faster, we probably are with Pender back there and Dalvin Cook back there and we have Ryan and Karlos, but we have explosive guys. They can catch a ball in the backfield, they can split out and run routes like wideouts. They can do a lot of things we have to be very creative about how we get them the ball and the packages we use."

On how it is an advantage to have seniors at the wide receiver position:
"Very much so. You got Rashad (Greene) coming back and then Scooter (Haggins) and Christian (Green). Scooter – having sat out with injuries, he's chomping. You worry about a guy who has a knee issue and when you go into those conditioning drills and the wear and tear it will have on them, but his knee held up, I was shocked I was, he went through it and he looked faster, he seemed faster than I remember. I think Christian Green had a good offseason, so those guys are experienced being in games, catching balls are critical because those young guys are coming and they are very talented. "

On replacing wide receiver Kelvin Benjamin:
"I'll stack Bobo (Wilson) and Kermit (Whitfield) on top of each other. They will be as tall as one Kelvin. We will see if we can get the best people on the field, and also you can jump or you can run there are two different avenues or throw it short and then they have to tackle him. Scooter, Christian and Rashad can do that. Bobo and Kermit – those guys get the ball short and it's hard to get them on the ground. I'm looking forward to Isaiah (Jones), he had a very good offseason too, but you know we will have to do things different ways and we'll see some of the freshman come in when they come here."

On if defensive back Tyler Hunter will practice this spring following his neck injury last fall:
"Yes he will. He is going to practice every day, he's going to be in a blue jersey so it's not, he can get hit, but we're not going to have him have contact. He will go through every drill, tap off on everybody. If he gets bumped into that's fine, he has a healthy body. By summer he will be cleared so he will be in every practice, every rep and he has had a very good offseason running extremely well. Just in a blue jersey."

On if it will be a challenge replacing receivers to compliment Rashad Greene:
"It is and I think that's also you keep forgetting we have (tight end) Nick O'Leary still. Guy got seven-to-eight touchdowns, 30-something balls. You can do a lot of different things with Nick, he's grown into this offense. I think he will be critical too, but those other guys are going to have to step up now. You know the ability of Bobo returning punts and a little bit of playing time he got and Kermit returns and getting those balls he touched last year will be very critical and you got Christian and Scooter coming back and Isaiah got hurt in the middle of it but those guys are all going to have to step up. That's going to be one of the things that we have to develop. We will be finding the other two starters when we go three-wide to when we have another starter going two-wide or the third starter when we go four-wide. Then the depth behind them, that's going to be one of the critical things we have to develop this spring."

On senior Austin Barron replacing departed senior Bryan Stork at center:
"That's very critical, a guy that has started maybe five or six games in his career already and critical games, on the road in different environments – that's very big games. He's a very intelligent guy and we got other guys around him but that center is critical because all of the calls, and Austin is a very intelligent guy and with playing experience it makes me sleep a lot better that I know that. We have to develop a guy behind him. That's the other critical thing. We have to develop depth there."

On making sure the program moves forward:
"I think you always have to be that way, and like I say, I always have something for them, I promise you. It's like when my kids come to me, you know what I mean, when I see those kids coming, they go to their mom for everything else, and they come to me when they want money. So it's the same way when they see me coming. But I believe if you're standing still then someone is passing you up. We have to always look for the future development of our organization and program and our administration has been very good about that and (Athletic Director Stan Wilcox) and I have a great relationship and he has been very approachable and very understanding. We talk through these situations and I feel very comfortable where we are going."

PRE-SPRING PRESS CONFERENCE

On the athletic department as whole making sure the program moves forward:
"I definitely hope so and I think that is the plan of our booster club and our AD and everyone else. I think we are getting ourselves that way with the money situation and it's going to be a lot of hard work and they understand that, and us having continuous success is going to be very critical because if the football program of any school is successful that helps all the other athletic departments and helps the money come in, helps the students come to the school and I think it brings more awareness to your program which is what you have to have to bring the revenue."

On if Winston will have the same reps as last year:
"Without a doubt because Jameis had a tremendous year and won the Heisman, but there are still a lot of things we have to work on fundamentally to get better knowledge of our offense and the only way you do that is to take reps and you play fast and make your mind play fast and your feet and arm can play fast because you have to process it from the mind down to the body and transition.The only way to do that is to do it, and he will take the same number reps and because it's going to be very important for him to learn and hold a new set of receivers and people around him too as far as developing another one or two receivers that we have to play with and keep that great bond with Rashad and Nick."

On how defensive tackle Keith Bryant has looked this offseason:
"I have been very pleased in the offseason. Keith is an athletic guy. In the fall he came in as a normal freshman, redshirted, but I was very pleased the last three weeks of Fourth Quarter Drills, ran very well and changed direction, did a great job staying in the front of the groups and you saw the athleticism. He's still weighing about 315 pounds right now, but ran extremely well so I was pleased with his offseason. I am excited to see how he takes it to the field."

On how to improve Winston:
"I think you are always learning as a competitor different situations, different scenarios, how you impact your teammates in different ways consistently, even more guys than on offense, maybe even more of the defensive guys or special teams guys and I think fundamentally, I think the knowledge of this offense and the things that he can do and make those decisions that much quicker and see reads that much quicker, or recognize defense that much quicker, even recognizing coverage's and blitz. People are always going to blitz you, and always recognizing those scenarios so you can create those big plays there, and fundamentally with his footwork, balance, and body control can approve his accuracy. I think in all of those areas he will continue to grow, and he must continue to grow."

On how Tyler Hunter stayed involved following his injury:
"I think again once he got over the shock of the injury, Tyler is a competitor and he still cared about his teammates and thought about this is how I can help and he helped them study film, he helped them look at film, he made comments to them from the sidelines, he was like having another coach out there that our players respect him for that very much so and that was, to me, a selfless act on his part to be able to be a part of this team anyway he could."

On talking with Tyler Hunter after the injury:
"I did a little bit, we had some meetings, and talked about how it's not the end of the world. With injuries, they say the physical part is never as great as the mental part. The things you face mentally, and I say the ghosts you chase and the not knowing is the toughest part, and we had to help him through that and I think when he did it he was back to being Tyler and helping any way he could."

On the depth at defensive back:
"Well we are going to put them all in different positions and try to find out how to get the best guys in each position and we will cross train them, we are going to multiple train them because of injuries and different scenarios and give them each an opportunity to do different things. You see Jalen (Ramsey) and I think he may be playing a lot of nickel where Lamarcus (Joyner) was. You are going to see him in those nickel situations in there with a big body who can play corner and can rush and be physical. You got Tyler (Hunter) back at safety. You have a lot of scenarios you can put people in. We are going to move around and try to cross train those guys until we have the best guys on the field."

On players switching from offense to defense:
"Giorgio (Newberry) is on defense. Giorgio will be playing inside a three technique and a five technique and he is 287 pounds right now – big body can take on the run plays the run very well, gets his hands up in the passing lane. He had a very good offseason so Giorgio will be playing on defense"

On senior defensive lineman Desmond Hollin:
"He's show leadership. He is carrying his weight, 290 pounds, running extremely well and running as well as any of our guys and leading. You see the urgency of being a senior. I have been extremely pleased with his offseason. Extremely and I mean having that weight and carrying it has been awesome."

On Junior College players:
"I think it all goes in waves as you say, sometimes you have them, sometimes you don't but guys are making an impact, a lot of guys are graduating early and getting an extra semester in which I think is very critical in your junior college development or they are coming with three years, so I mean one year there, getting a redshirt year and having three years because sometimes they have a tough transition year. You still have two years left so you see more of that which I think has a big impact on how much they have impacted programs, and we have had some good success with those guys lately."

On reloading on the defensive line:
"Exactly. You have Nile (Lawrence-Stample), Eddie (Goldman) and Desmond (Hollin). Now we will have Ro'Derrick (Hoskins) and Keith (Bryant) – all of those guys will be very critical in that development and where they are at and sometimes on passing down if you want to Mario (Edwards, Jr.) can be an outside guy but he can also be an inside guy because of how big and powerful he is in different scenarios on third down and nickel downs. Speed pass rushers – we have a lot with (Matthew) Thomas and (Ukeme) Eligwe), you know different guys you can do things. All of those guys are good pass rush guys. Ro'Derrick had a great offseason. I'm anxious to see him."

On replacing departed senior linebackers Telvin Smith and Christian Jones:
"I think this is who is going to be the guy making the calls? Who is going to initiate the calls and how we have things set up, because you're going to see Eligwe back at linebacker in the beginning, their backup (Reggie) Northrup and Terrance (Smith), and Eligwe, Thomas, Ro'Derrick. There is going to be a lot of really good players in my opinion. (Who will) have the leadership like Telvin had and getting the calls and making sure people get on the same page?"

On the Seminoles entering spring healthy:
"I think (head strength and conditioning coach Vic Viloria) does a great job in the training room and I think being able to manage practice and our GPS system, and how we train with that thing year round, has taken a lot of guess work out of how tired the team is – where your pulls, your tears, our soft tissue tears were down 88 percent last year – and being able to apply that and use it full time to gain that information. It's on my desk the first thing we do every day. So how we practice the adjustments I make we all base off, I live off that thing and how we do things and it takes a lot of the guess work out of it and you're going to have surgeries because you're going to get a knee or ankle or leg and you can't help that but a lot of the wear and tear on the body we're able to take out the guess work and just practice and individual practices to individual players you know how we do things and I think it has been very critical to our development since it keeps guys on the field."

"Low injuries are very critical to team success."

On how critical it is for an offensive line to stay healthy:
"It's very critical, the shoulders, people don't realize the wear and tear the shoulders take – I mean it's just very critical and you have to make sure the amount of hitting you do and we wear pads a lot but that doesn't mean we are killing each other. You have to learn how to practice. The body only has so many collisions and you can't beat it to death but keeping that cohesion is critical especially in the offensive line."
